

Intelligent Sales

We are excited to learn more about your business and the support you need. The more details you provide, the better we can tailor our approach to your specific needs and offer personalized solutions.

At the beginning of each project, we define the scope and expected outcomes together. Based on this, we generate a detailed proposal, including the estimated number of hours required and the project duration. Any changes that incur additional costs will be communicated in writing and will only proceed if the project scope is altered at the client's request.

The hourly rates are provided for orientation — we work with a clearly defined proposal, ensuring you know exactly what services are included at what price. This way, there are no surprises, and everything stays within the agreed terms.

Are you interested in working together? Let's schedule a brief call to discuss how we can best assist you. Just provide your availability below, and we'll find a suitable time!
